an unique strategy for you? What is out of your type of business? Can the members do some of those? Why? To which? I recommend mapping key for key activities. If an activity is key, it is still part of its business model. This is a way to denote what specific partners are handling several key activities for you. Result The left of the business model has blocks that libly support and fit together. Understanding the costs associated with Yoru activities is a key part of your business modeling. A list of key alliances with notes on your relationship with key activities. Step 9 (10 →) Cost structure The business model Canvas á € “Link activities to costs You have worked to understand how your key activities promote your propositions and therefore your income. The key questions to ask at this stage of the business model are: How do costs handle? Are you costs well aligned with the key value proposals? Are the most fixed or variable costs as different business models prove? They are more linear with your scaling or more fixed? You will want to have these in mind while Tweak your model. Result if you are a startup then know your costs and predict an execution rate of costs is critical. The business canvas model helps focus on the resources and activities that are associated with its business design. As a result, you must have a list of cost structure elements with notes on your relationship with key activities.
